Note d'intention de l'auteur

Sam endeavors to tell stories with a lot of heart. Raised by a Japanese mother and an American father, her multiracial background provides her with a unique lens through which to view the world and recognize universal themes. Her script, "The Cenozoic Era," ultimately attempts to display a love that persists even when loved ones don't occupy the same space or time; it is the responsibility of the living to remember and share that love with those who come after.
